Jefferson City, MO – Mike Kehoe, small businessman and Republican candidate for the 6th District State Senate seat, announced the 2nd quarter accomplishments of his campaign today. This quarter the campaign launched a 24-stop “Flapjack Tour,” with multiple stops in each of the five counties in the District (<http://www.mikekehoeforsenate.com/wp-content/uploads/2010/06/Flapjacks.pdf>). The Flapjack Tour features complimentary pancakes and coffee, and provides anyone interested in food and conversation with Mike an opportunity to visit. The campaign also began reaching out directly to thousands of voters through a door to door campaign. In addition, Mike Kehoe has picked up key endorsements from Missouri Right to Life, Missouri State Council of Fire Fighters, Missouri Association of School Administrators (MASA), the Missouri Association of Elementary School Principals (MAESP), the Missouri Association of Secondary School Principals (MASSP), and the Missouri Council of Career and Technical Administrators (MCCTA). With respect to fundraising, Kehoe collected $81,165 for the quarter ending June 30, and continues to be encouraged by the response the campaign has received from voters throughout the 6th District.

“We now have 17 of our 24 Flapjack Tour stops completed and the energy is incredible from our supporters and my traveling crew. We have cooked in the farmland bottoms of Callaway County, toured a 105-year-old Feed Mill in Stover, mixed batter in the park next to a lake that once watered steam engines, brewed coffee around the corner from the Iberia Academy, and shared fond memories of great baseball teams at Legion Fields. On each and every stop we meet people from all walks of life who support our efforts, and give our team the energy we need to move as hard as we can towards August 3rd – just 18 days away,” Kehoe said.

Kehoe continues to focus his campaign on issues that are important to voters in the 6th District including protecting the unborn, working to get the central Missouri economy back on track, finding common sense solutions that help create family supporting jobs, holding the line on taxes, and protecting Second Amendment rights. “The people of the 6th District continue to express concern about the economic situation facing our state and nation. They are excited about seeing a fresh face in the state capitol with real world experience and a small business background. Voters desperately want to see the focus shift toward growing the economy, which starts with employment growth. My background in small business is the right fit for job growth in central Missouri,” Kehoe said.

In closing, Kehoe reiterated his appreciation to those who have stepped up to help the campaign. “I am both blessed and excited to report that literally hundreds of people have signed up to volunteer on the website at www.mikekehoeforsenate.com and we have had over 1,000 donors since July who offered their financial support. I am proud to report that in the last three months we attended a total of 137 events throughout the District. I continue to be humbled by those who are willing to give their time, talents, and hard earned money to support our campaign efforts. I will continue to work tirelessly to engage the support of voters throughout the District over the final days leading up to August 3rd.”
